Fly In For Your Medical at Stallion 51's AvDoc 51 located at Kissimmee Airport. (KISM)

AVDOC 51 located at Stallion 51's flight operation at the Kissimmee airport (KISM) is a fully operational aviation and pilot-oriented medical clinic that focuses on the care and well-being of aviators and flight crews with all levels of experience and backgrounds.

Senior AME Dr. William Busch believes, the ability to fly in this day and age is dependent on desire, training, skill, financial and physical ability. These are all replenish-able resources except one, physical ability or health. "Without good health and the ability to pass an FAA medical exam all the dough, desire and skill in the world will not get keep you in the cockpit." "Doc Busch" is an integral part of the team at Stallion as an instructor pilot and teaching the aero-medical aspects of unusual attitude training in the new UAT program, a division of Stallion 51.

Where else can you fly in for your FAA Medical exam? AVDoc51, keeping pilots in the cockpit and flying since 2005. www.stallion51.com Call; 407-546-0854
